Welcome to Coppenrath Feingebäck, the family-owned business from the Emsland

At Coppenrath, the art of fine baking runs in the family. For seven generations, we have dedicated ourselves to the craft of baking and confectionery, producing the finest pastry specialties and distributing them with care. Over the course of two centuries, we have not only gained a wealth of experience but also developed a deep sense of responsibility.

A responsibility for the quality of our products, which we create with skill, exceptional recipes, and carefully selected ingredients. A responsibility for the satisfaction of our business partners and customers, who can rely on our expertise in technology and logistics. And a responsibility for the well-being of our employees, who work diligently every day to uphold our esteemed reputation.

Today, our fine pastries are enjoyed all over the world. Yet, we never forget our roots. Being involved with both hand and heart, honoring tradition while embracing innovation—this is what defines us as a family business and sets us apart from many anonymous corporations. And for this, we personally stand by our name.
